

Figure S1. Testes weights scaled by body weight. DM hybrid males (red borders) had consistently heavier testes than MD hybrid males (black borders) when scaling by body weight, with the exception of the fertile DBA2-derived hybrids (light blue). This is the same pattern seen when not taking body weight into account (Figure 2).