

Figure S3. Gene expression values (average counts per million) plotted against promoter region methylation data (average fraction methylated). Histograms are printed on the side to show where the majority of data points cluster. The blue density graph overlay is used to show the density of the data.