

Figure S15 Phenotypic prediction accuracies for seven traits with different combination of various genetic components using either QTL peak markers or all markers in genome. Prediction accuracy is defined as the correlation between the observed and predicted phenotypic values obtained from replicated 10-fold cross validation.